

FRENCH EDUCATION & RESEARCH NETWORK in UK

The Higher Education, Research and Innovation (HERI) department of the French Embassy in the United Kingdom is supporting the initiative of French researchers to create the FERN-UK network of excellence (French Education and Research Network in the United-Kingdom).

FERN-UK aims to bring together French researchers from the United Kingdom in order to support Franco-British research collaborations in the universities or private sectors, to provide support for exchanges of graduate students and to create a dynamic of information and discussion within the community of French researchers.

We would like to invite you to be part of this network which will allow you to participate in initiatives and events organized by FERN-UK.

Register now to be part of the network and to receive more information!

See you soon!
